Relaxing

People describe me as...

Bubbly
Caring
Knowledgeable

My job...

I am the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Coordinator or SENDCo for short. It is my job to help teachers and TAs to work out the extra support or changes that some children need to help them when they are finding a part of learning difficult. I work with children and their families to find out what they are good at and what they find tricky, then help them to find ways to overcome these barriers. I also work with lots of other specialists who can give us new ideas to try.

What helps me do my job well...

Working with colleagues as part of a team
Good listening skills
Taking time to think and reflect
Being organised

Where you might see me...

In the SEND room (opposite the Office) or working with adults and children in school.
